About Us

Founded in 1947, the Canadian Society of Plastic Surgeons (CSPS) represents nearly 500 members committed to advancing plastic surgery in Canada. Our members are highly trained professionals specializing in reconstructive and cosmetic surgery. In addition to providing care and performing a great variety of operations in adult patients, our members also specialize in pediatric plastic surgery, including cleft lip and palate surgery and reconstruction of various malformations, providing critical care to young patients.

We help patients understand their options, provide clear information on procedures, and uphold the highest surgical standards for successful outcomes and satisfaction. Canadian plastic surgeons also perform essential reconstructive surgeries, including breast reconstruction, facial defect repair, and hand surgeries, with many volunteering internationally.

CSPS is dedicated to sharing knowledge, promoting new techniques, and supporting our members while providing valuable information to Canadians.
